

Steven Colborne

Author Biographies

50 Words

Steven Colborne is the author of several acclaimed books, including The Philosophy of a Mad Man and Ultimate Truth: God Beyond Religion. He holds a PG Cert in Philosophy and Religion from the University of London and runs the award-winning philosophy and theology blog Perfect Chaos.

100 Words

Steven Colborne was born in 1982 in Cambridge, England. He grew up in Abingdon near Oxford and moved to London in 2000 to study. He is a first class BA (Hons) graduate of the University of Westminster, and holds a PG Cert in Philosophy and Religion from the University of London.

Colborne is the author of several acclaimed books, including the spiritual memoir The Philosophy of a Mad Man and the theological treatise Ultimate Truth: God Beyond Religion. In 2012, he established PerfectChaos.org, an award-winning theology and philosophy blog with several thousand subscribers. He currently lives in South West London.

150 Words

Steven Colborne was born in 1982 in Cambridge, England. He grew up in Abingdon near Oxford and moved to London in 2000 to study. He is a first class BA (Hons) graduate of the University of Westminster, and holds a PG Cert in Philosophy and Religion from the University of London. He is the author of several acclaimed books, including the spiritual memoir The Philosophy of a Mad Man and the theological treatise Ultimate Truth: God Beyond Religion. In 2012, he established PerfectChaos.org, an award-winning philosophy and theology blog with several thousand subscribers.

He writes openly and candidly about his mental health problems, which have led to several spells in hospital and a diagnosis of schizoaffective disorder. He currently lives in South West London, where he spends his time writing books, articles, and essays about all the big questions of philosophy and theology.

200 Words

Steven Colborne was born in 1982 in Cambridge, England. He grew up in Abingdon near Oxford and moved to London in 2000 to study. He is a first class BA (Hons) graduate of the University of Westminster, and holds a PG Cert in Philosophy and Religion from the University of London. He is the author of several acclaimed books, including the spiritual memoir The Philosophy of a Mad Man and the theological treatise Ultimate Truth: God Beyond Religion. In 2012, he established PerfectChaos.org, an award-winning philosophy and theology blog with several thousand subscribers.

Colborne's career has included two jobs in the heart of the music industry promoting multi-million selling artists, as well as a variety of roles in charities and NGOs, including Greenpeace, Age UK, Imagine Independence, and Sue Ryder Care. He has immersed himself in the spiritual practices of many different faith groups and has spent time as a Buddhist, a New Age spiritualist, an evangelical Christian, and before all that, an atheist. His turbulent mental health has led to several spells in psychiatric hospital. He currently lives in South West London, where he spends his time writing books, articles, and essays, about all the big questions of philosophy and theology.